

Bishop Sutton Community Church Letter

Amidst the storms of mid-October was a 5 hour window between 4:00am-9:00am when I was able to get a line in the sea in the hope of catching a Codling; Codling, a small Cod less than 6lb are around in the autumn and winter months after a storm to feed on the crabs that have been broken up by the storm. Unfortunately for me, the Codling were on their holidays leaving the coast clear for Dogfish and Conger Eels. Dogfish need handling with strong rubber gloves to prevent the rasping skin causing painful grazes, the skin used to be used for the finest of woodworking: some Dogfish scales were found on the 1715 'Titian' Stradivarius violin. In contrast, Conger Eels are "as slippery as an eel" with a set of teeth as sharp as a razor and a set of jaws like a hydraulic press that should come with the warning "handle with extreme caution!" Imagine my delight when amidst the series of Dogfish came a small Conger Eel. I very carefully unhooked it and returned it to the sea but each time it washed up again with the strong incoming tide. After 3 failed attempts, holding it firmly behind the head, I hurled it beyond the breaking waves to freedom but my impersonation of an Olympic hammer thrower caused me to overbalance just as a large wave came in and soaked me. That was at 5:00am and rather than return to our caravan a mile away for some dry clothes and miss out on an hour's fishing, I just carried on. My reward was a much larger Conger Eel that provided us with a delicious lunch...Conger Eel contains lots of bones that take some filleting out but the flesh is firm and full of flavour. Why did Jesus choose Peter, Andrew, James and John for his key disciples? They were fishermen, prepared to stay up all night (which can be good for praying), and they never give up. "And let us not grow weary of doing good, for in due season we will reap, if we do not give up."... Galatians 6:9, God bless,
